| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reading economics paper always has been difficult to me. It still absolutely is and will be, but I know I have improved understanding and analyzing not only paper in general but also methods. Most importantly, strong points of the course is to increase dramatically my learning curve in research (e.g. literature review, formulate my ideas, steps to write, and so on). • I love the material. Learning how contemporary econometrics is done is captivating. Going from simple OLS regressions to the use of instrumental variables was fascinating. • course was designed in a way where we had assignments do in relation to our capstone/final paper. I think these were very helpful to make sure that you were working on your research from the start and got adequate feedback. • NA • good examples for learning STATA, interesting points and videos of econometrics • I thought the topics we covered were all relevant to what we needed for our capstone project and gave us more options on how to do the project. • Provides the base and background which econometrics should have provided. Extremely beneficial to anyone moving towards an analysis field within economics | | | | | | | | | | | | |

37 - STRONG POINTS -- THE INSTRUCTOR

Thomas Lebesmuehlbacher

Response Rate 7/11 (63.64%)

- He speaks concisely and clearly with an optimal speed to understand. Surprisingly, his 2:45-hour class at night has been boring at all, but keeps me engaged and interested.
- Thomas is very knowledgeable on each and every topic we cover in class. It is obvious that he is excited by the material when he is presenting it to the class. Even though the math can be dull at times, his use of papers gives an interesting application to the math once it has been derived. The utility of the math is then made obvious.
- Very knowledgeable.
- NA
- very knowledgeable, laid back, good grader, cool guy
- Thomas was very good with working with students outside of class and was more than willing to help when I had questions on the capstone.
- Extremely knowledgeable and entertaining.

38 - WEAK POINTS -- THE COURSE

Thomas Lebesmuehlbacher

Response Rate 6/11 (54.55%)

- N/A
- No large problems.
- NA
- a lot of reading papers that are too long and confusing tables
- I thought there should have been quizzes and / or tests on the topics covered in class as a way to ensure we are understanding what we are learning.
- Unclear course progression at times, may have been nice to have a written schedule so we could stay on top of assigned readings more efficiently.

39 - WEAK POINTS -- THE INSTRUCTOR

Thomas Lebesmuehlbacher

Response Rate 6/11 (54.55%)

- N/A
- Thomas had the audacity to be 15 minutes late to a single class. But this issue is cancelled out by dint of the fact that he brought Jimmy John's the following week.
- not very approachable
- NA
- I think at times Thomas would just tell the answer to a question rather than explaining how he got to that point, especially when meeting for the capstone.
- Sometimes gets lost in teaching when students aren't understanding, but this is somewhat expected in this level of class.

40 - SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS -- THE COURSE

Thomas Lebesmuehlbacher

Response Rate 5/11 (45.45%)

- N/A
- Few papers to read, possibly. Though I think the balance is quite good.
- NA
- Nothing other than what has already been mentioned
- Course schedule

41 - SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS -- THE INSTRUCTOR

Thomas Lebesmuehlbacher

Response Rate 5/11 (45.45%)

- N/A
- More Jimmy John's. But seriously, he is one of the best instructors I have had at Xavier.
- NA
- Nothing other than what has already been mentioned.
